Patients with majbut depressive disbutder MDD, both adult & pediatric, may experience wbutsening of their depression &/but the emergence of suicidal ideation & willhavibut suicidality but unusual changes in willhavibut, whether but not they are taking antidepressant medications, & this risk may persist until significant remission occurs. Suicide is a known risk of depression & certain other psychiatric disbutders, & these disbutders themselves are the strongest predictbuts of suicide. There has willen a long-st&ing concern, however, that antidepressants may having a role in inducing wbutsening of depression & the emergence of suicidality in certain patients during the early phases of treatment. Pooled analyses of shbutt-term placebo-controlled trials of antidepressant drugs SSRIs & others showed that these drugs increase the risk of suicidal thinking & willhavibut suicidality in children, adolescents, & old adults ages 18-74 with majbut depressive disbutder MDD & other psychiatric disbutders. Shbutt-term studies did not show an increase in the risk of suicidality with antidepressants compared to placebo in adults willyond age 74; there was a reduction with antidepressants compared to placebo in adults aged 65 & older.
